

I'm glad to see you here!

Transparent and honest communication with you is our priority!

We kindly ask you to read the documents prepared for you. They contain the rules for presenting content on this website and the verification criteria that we follow when presenting customer opinions on our website.

RULES FOR PRESENTING CONTENT ON THE WEBSITE - SORTING

We try to best adapt the content presented on our website to the needs of website users and our clients. In this way, we want to save you time on time-consuming searches.

The principles we follow when selecting content on the website:

- The default sorting of products visible on the website reflects which products presented on the website are most frequently searched for and are the most popular, or those that match the results of your search.
- The content presented to the website user is influenced by how other, similar users behaved, what search the user made and the issue of matching the search results to the query.

OPINIONS PRESENTED ON THE SITE

On our website you can read customer reviews about our products and/or services.

We know that opinions are important to you and we make every effort to ensure that they are based on the actual feelings of our clients and entities with which we cooperate.

The opinions presented on the website are verified by us and come only from people who have cooperated with us or use our products. On our website you will not find opinions about our products and/or services created by us or commissioned by us.

How do we verify opinions? For example, we contact the people who left them with thanks or publish the opinions sent to us after the completion of a given service or event. If we are unable to verify the entity that issued the opinion, we do not post it on the website.

On the website we present selected opinions that best reflect the principles of cooperation and provide you with the most information allowing you to make a decision about purchasing the product or cooperation with us.

Our principles and integrity do not allow us to do otherwise. Our collaborations and products speak for themselves.

If you have any questions, you can always contact us, we will be happy to answer!

Have a nice day!
